Welcome Message

Dr. Sumaya AlZarooni

Dr. Suad Sajwani

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the organizing committee, we are delighted to welcome you to the 2nd EHS International Critical Care and Organ Donation & Transplant Conference, taking place from February 14th to 16th, 2025, at the prestigious InterContinental Festival City in Dubai, UAE.

This exceptional event marks a significant milestone in the fields of critical care and organ transplantation. Together, we will explore the latest advancements, foster collaboration, and shape the future of these vital medical disciplines. The conference will feature nationally and internationally renowned faculty, with sessions focused on the most up-to-date, evidence-based advancements in critical care medicine and organ transplantation.

Our organizing and scientific committees have curated a remarkable program featuring renowned experts, thought-provoking keynote presentations, interactive panel discussions, hands-on workshops, and engaging poster sessions. This multidisciplinary platform will provide invaluable opportunities to learn, network, and engage in stimulating dialogues that will undoubtedly drive progress in critical care and organ transplantation.

In addition to the exceptional scientific program, we have organized several workshops. These workshops provide hands-on training, enabling participants to enhance their practical skills and gain valuable insights into the complexities of adult intensive care therapy.

Dubai, a global hub for medical innovation and research, serves as the perfect backdrop for this conference. As a city that seamlessly blends tradition and modernity, Dubai offers a dynamic environment where you can immerse yourself in the latest developments in the field while experiencing its vibrant culture, iconic landmarks, and culinary delights.

Your presence and active engagement in this landmark event are crucial to the conference's success. Your insights and collaborative spirit will be instrumental in advancing the field and addressing the pressing challenges faced by healthcare professionals in the UAE, the region, and worldwide. We are confident that this important meeting will be a memorable and enlightening experience for all, leaving a lasting impact on both your personal and professional growth.

Once again, we warmly welcome you to the 2nd EHS International Critical Care & Organ Transplant Conference, where we will collectively explore, innovate, and forge a path towards a healthier future.

Critical Care Speakers

Prof. Jean-Louis Teboul

Professor Emeritus
Paris-Saclay University,
Former Head of the Medical ICU, Bicêtre Hospital
France

Professor Jean-Louis Teboul is a highly esteemed figure in the field of Therapeutics and Intensive Care Medicine. Born on December 7, 1953, in Algiers, Algeria, he has made significant contributions to the medical field over the course of his illustrious career. He graduated with a Medical Degree (MD) in 1985 from the Faculty of Medicine Cochin-Port Royal at the University of Paris V, after completing his undergraduate studies from 1973 to 1979. His postgraduate training began with a residency in internal medicine, cardiology, and intensive care medicine between 1981 and 1985, followed by a fellowship in Intensive Care Medicine.

Professor Teboul's academic career spans several decades, with notable milestones including his appointment as Associate Professor of Therapeutics and Intensive Care Medicine at Bicêtre Hospital (Paris-South University) from 1993 to 1997. He served as a Professor of Therapeutics and Intensive Care Medicine at Bicêtre Hospital (Paris-Saclay University) from September 1997 until August 2023, and was Head of the Medical ICU from September 2020 to August 2023. In 2023, he was honored with the title of Professor Emeritus at Paris-Saclay University.

He holds several board certifications, including Therapeutic Trials Methodology (University Paris VII), Cardiology (1985), Medical Intensive Care (1989), Echocardiography (University Paris XII, 1987), and a PhD in Cardiorespiratory Physiology and Pathophysiology from the University Paris V in 1995. His expertise in cardiorespiratory physiology has led him to develop innovative techniques for assessing volume status and fluid responsiveness, including pulse pressure variation (PPV), passive leg raising (PLR), and end-expiratory occlusion tests. His research has focused extensively on cardiopulmonary interactions and the use of vasopressors and inotropes in critically ill patients.

Professor Teboul is a key member of multiple prestigious professional societies. He has been actively involved in the European Society of Intensive Care Medicine (ESICM) and the Société de Réanimation de Langue Française, where he has held executive roles, including General Secretary and Chair of several sections. Additionally, he has contributed significantly to the American Thoracic Society and the American College of Chest Physicians, for which he was awarded Honorary Fellow status in 2007.

As an academic leader, Professor Teboul has contributed to numerous journals, serving as the Editor-in-Chief of Annals of Intensive Care since 2011 and co-editor of Journal of Intensive Medicine since 2020. His research work is widely recognized, with 365 published articles indexed in PubMed and 160 book chapters. He has an H-index of 93 according to Google Scholar and has been invited to lecture at over 1,278 conferences worldwide, including 1,087 international lectures in English.

In addition to his research and academic achievements, Professor Teboul has received several prestigious awards. Notably, he was honored with the Society Medal by ESICM in 2024 and the International Honorary Membership of the Indian Society of Critical Care Medicine in 2024. He has held visiting professor positions at institutions such as Shanghai Jiao Tong University (2019-2022) and Sun Yat-sen University in Guangzhou, China (2023).

Professor Teboul's exceptional contributions to intensive care medicine, his profound research expertise, and his leadership in various scientific communities have earned him a distinguished place among the leading figures in his field.

My passion for education is well reflected with active participation and teaching of medical students at College of Medicine and Health Sciences, UAE University. I have also re-activated and led Emirates Infectious Disease Society in 2022 and since then organized several conferences, journal clubs and physical/online meetings for infectious disease and interested medical staff.

Hardworking and professional, my passion for infectious disease and transplantation in the region is well evident. Helped to establish the first infectious disease fellowship programs in the United Arab Emirates at Tawam Hospital and currently serving as associated program director. My passion is for education and improving quality of physicians which ultimately improves the healthcare delivered to patients.

Dr. Essa M. Aleassa

Consultant HPB and
Abdominal Transplant Surgeon
Cleveland Clinic Abu Dhabi
Abu Dhabi, UAE

An academic surgeon interested in Minimally Invasive Surgery (MIS) with a focus in Hepato-Pancreato-Biliary (HPB) diseases and Solid Organ Transplantation. I have completed fellowship training at the Cleveland Clinic (Cleveland, OH, USA) in MIS, Metabolic and Bariatric, HPB, and Abdominal Transplant Surgery under the mentorship of world-renowned experts such as Drs. Philip R. Schauer, R. Matthew Walsh, Charles Miller, Bijan Eghtesad, and C.H. David Kwon. My research interest revolves around surgical outcomes and health services research. I strive to transfer the knowledge and skills I acquired from North America to the Middle East and North Africa region. Being the product of intercontinental institutions across the Middle East, North America, and Europe gives me a panoramic perspective on solutions to clinical, educational, and administrative challenges that academic surgeons come across on a day-to-day basis. Moreover, I am interested in the applications of machine learning and natural language processing in improving and guiding clinical reasoning.
